"I forgot to tell you one thing...I'm a Magi."
Our main character, after being orphaned by a fire, is taken in by a man who claims to be so.
Three years after the death of his foster-father, mysterious incidents begin happening in town, and he is drawn into a battle between the Magi called "Masters".
But his foster-father has only taught him one spell.
Still too inexperienced as a Magi, he finds himself in the midst of a "ritual" as one of the "Masters"...

I am the bone of my sword.
Steel is the meat of my body, and fire is the blood of my body.
The blades I have tempered are over a thousand.
Have never lost anything.
Nor have gained anything.
